Project Goal

Improve Internet Data Access for Environmental Managers

The Challenge

- Information overload
- Quickly isolating relevant information
- Finding targeted results

The Problem

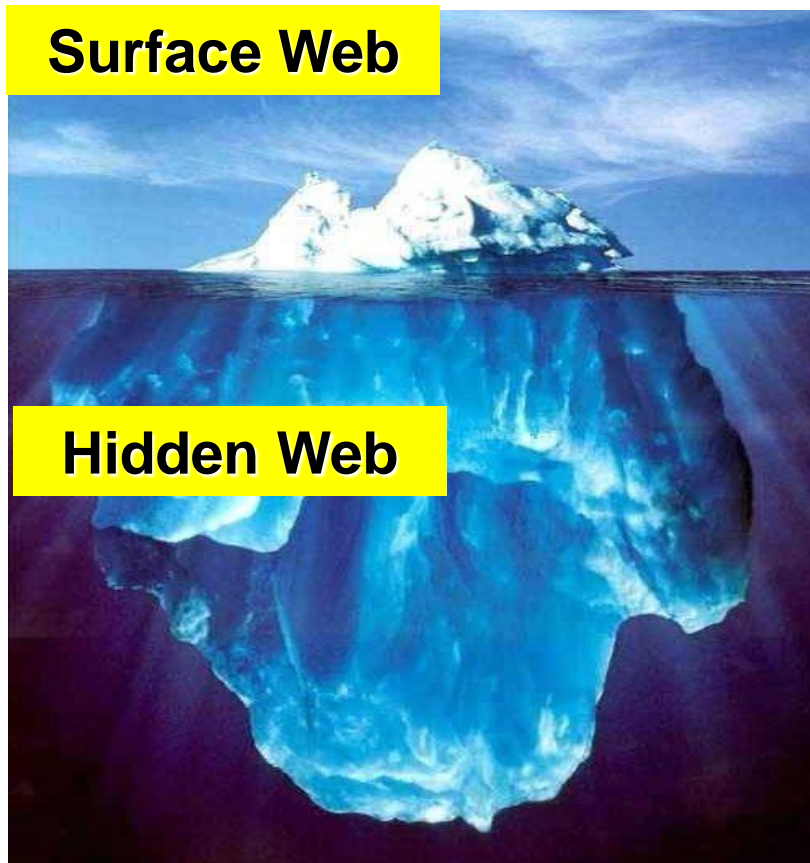

General search engines index only the “Surface Web” – only reaching 16% of the available information

16%

Surface Web

84%

Hidden Web

Categories of Web Information

16%

- Free Access
- Indexed by search engines such as Google

64%

- Free Access
- Not indexed by traditional search engines
- Need to know where to look and how to search

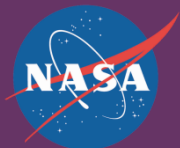

20%

- Restricted Access
- Paid Subscription or Registration
- Not indexed by traditional search engines
- Need to know where to look and how to search

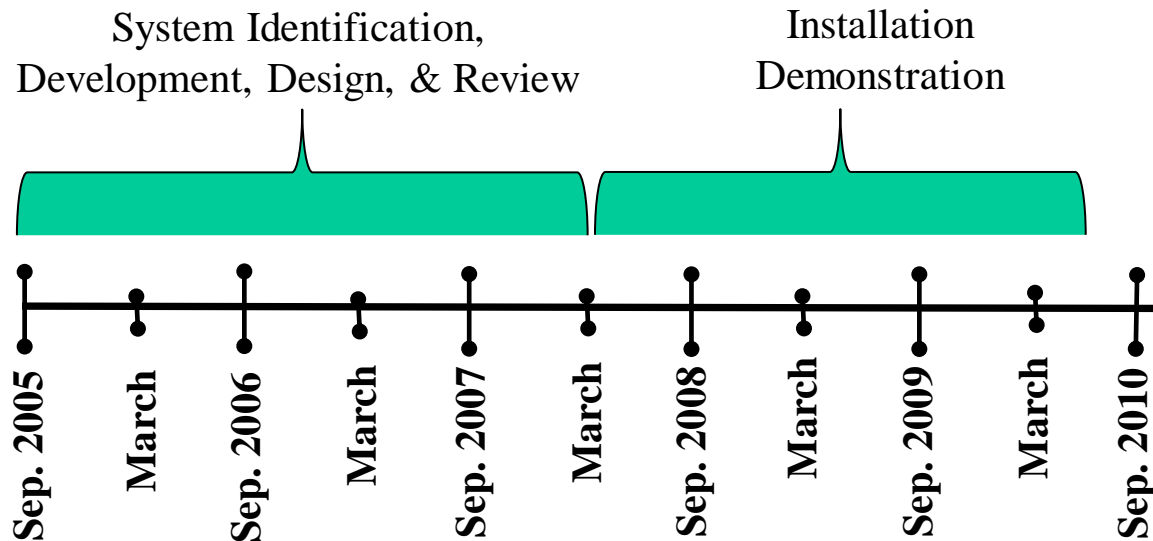

The Portal Solution

- User-friendly
- Simultaneously search targeted resources
- On-demand search refinement

Background and Milestones

- Development of the EDS Portal was funded by the JG-PP and the Navy
- Configured and linked the search portal to the Internet, indexing over 100 web sites currently focused on biobased technologies, coatings/coating removal, solvents, and emerging contaminants
- Identified Stakeholders and setup over 120 user accounts

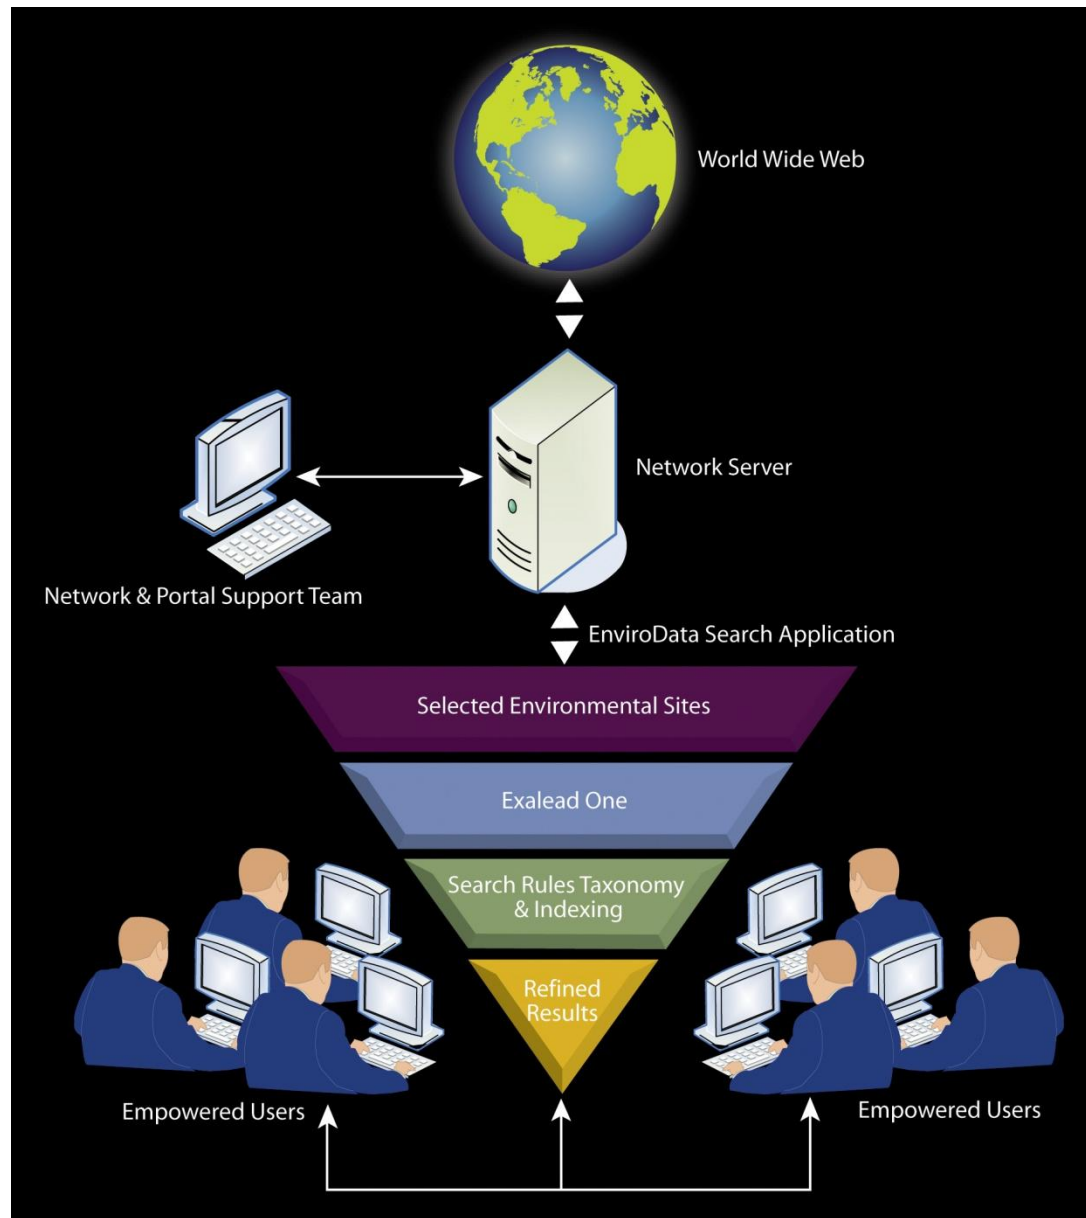

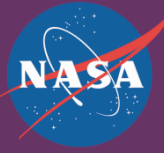

Portal Design Features

- User friendly search process – for novice and experienced searchers
- Focuses on pre-selected, high-value environmental deep web sites – continually updated
- Strategic information indexing for improved usability
- Accessible from JG-PP web site - with password protection

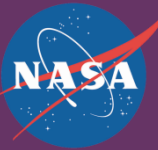

Portal Operational Components

Initial Site Categories

- Biofuels
- Coatings / Coatings Removal
- Pollution Prevention (P2)
- Solvents
- Clean Processes
- Nanotechnology

Portal Recap

■ User Issues

- Limited time for searching
- Don't always know what they are looking for

■ Additional EDS Resources

- User Group collaboration to identify changing issues, priorities, and focus areas
- E-mail Alerts for automated user search notification
- Electronic Newsletter updates
- Technical support to refine searching, indexing, and Portal performance

Summary

- The EDS Portal offers the DoD/National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA)/Defense Logistics Agency (DLA) an innovative web search capability for timely/cost effective evaluation of strategic environmental business information.
- User accounts are being set up for DoD personnel.
- JG-PP is seeking portal partners to use the portal resources and help fund the follow-on efforts.
